In Malawi, Career Day is an exciting event where children from various Nursery schools and Community-Based Childcare (CBCC) schools converge to explore and celebrate different professions. It's more than just dressing up like their career aspirations; it's a deep experience that broadens their horizons. At the Career Day event held at Beehive Hall, organized by Mother Theresa and featuring participation from Seibo schools, children had the opportunity to engage with various professionals, learn about different careers, and develop essential skills.

The event likely aimed to inspire and educate the children about various career paths, fostering their curiosity and ambitions. By participating in activities, interacting with professionals, and showcasing their talents, the children gained valuable insights into the world of work. The inclusion of Seibo schools added to the event's significance, making it a memorable experience for the children involved. It was indeed a big day for Seibo schools, providing a platform for young minds to explore, learn, and dream big!

Makoto's visit to Chisomo CBCC was filled with engaging moments, including a stop at the kitchen where Likuni Phala, a traditional Malawian porridge, was being prepared. He took the opportunity to interact with the parent volunteer cooking for the kids that day, learning about the nutritional value and cultural significance of the meal. The parent shared insights into the preparation process, and Makoto showed keen interest, appreciating the effort that goes into providing wholesome meals for the children. This chance encounter highlighted the importance of community involvement in supporting early childhood education and nutrition at Chisomo CBCC.

The atmosphere was filled with joy and gratitude as Makoto's visit to Chisomo CBCC touched the hearts of the committee members, children, parents, and Village Headman Che Pit. To them, Makoto's presence was more than just a visit – it was a blessing. In his remarks, Village Headman Che Pit expressed his appreciation, emphasizing the significance of visitors who genuinely support the community. He conveyed his heartfelt gratitude to Seibo for selecting Chisomo CBCC as one of the schools to be visited by such a distinguished guest, describing Makoto as the best guest any school could wish for. The village head's words reflected the community's deep appreciation for Seibo's efforts in fostering partnerships that benefit local schools. The warm reception and thanks underscored the strong sense of community and collaboration at Chisomo CBCC.

Makoto's visit to Chisomo CBCC aimed to foster a deeper understanding of the school's operations, needs, and challenges. Of particular concern was the school's water challenge, a critical issue that affects the daily lives of the students and staff. During his visit, Makoto took the opportunity to inspect the current water source, gaining firsthand insight into the difficulties faced by the school community. By engaging with the staff and students, he was able to grasp the situation from their perspective, acknowledging the resilience and resourcefulness they exhibit in the face of these challenges.

Seibo's goal is to feed young children at school, nurturing future leaders. Investing on the future leaders though a warm porridge everyday

Seibo helps kids eat healthy food like Likuni Phala porridge at school. This helps them learn and grow better. The idea is that if kids are full and healthy, they can focus on learning and become future leaders. It's like giving them a strong start to succeed in life

Mrs Kadzuwa, the cook at Makwika Nursery school, is thrilled to be part of the school's meal program. She loves coming to work knowing the kids are getting a nutritious meal, and it motivates her even more that her own child benefits from the program. With her salary, she's able to pay her child's school fees at the same nursery school, and as a bonus, her child gets to enjoy the Likuni Phala porridge. It's a win-win for her family, and she's grateful for the opportunity to contribute and support her own child's education.

Miss Joyce Phiri, the director of Makwika Nursery school, flashed a warm smile as she posed for a photo to express her heartfelt thanks to MACOSY Project, a generous donor to Seibo. "Keep up the good work, MACOSY Project," she said with gratitude. "God bless you!" Her message echoed the appreciation of the entire school community, acknowledging MACOSY Project's contribution to nourishing young minds and bodies

A worm thank you from Mlambe CBCC children goes to Fukushima Minami High School, your support is making a big difference, a cup of warm heart Coffie for about 25 cups of Likuni Phala porridge, the best student support to another student beyond boarders.

Makoto's visit to Mlambe CBCC was a resounding success. He spent quality time interacting with the children, caregivers, and committee members, gathering valuable content to share with Seibo Japan. The highlight of his visit was sharing a meal with the children and tasting Likuni Phala, a traditional Malawian porridge, cooked to perfection at the school. Makoto didn't just taste it, he enthusiastically joined the children in eating the porridge, declaring it "tasty" and recommending it to others. This hands-on experience allowed him to connect with the children and appreciate this meal. His visit showcased the warm hospitality and vibrant atmosphere of Mlambe CBCC, leaving a lasting impression on him

The children at Mpotola CBCC are happy because Likuni Phala makes them healthy and ready for school. The school wants to feed the kids so they can do well in class and become good leaders one day. Likuni Phala cooked at school helps the whole community by keeping the children healthy and happy.

Big thumbs up from Tsamirani CBCC to Seibo Japan and all the amazing donors! Your support is changing lives in Malawi, one meal at a time. You're not just feeding kids, you're fuelling futures, empowering parents, and uplifting communities
